Partial Differential Equations Seminar

Title A few directions in optimal transport

Speaker 김영헌 교수

Affiliation Dept. of Math.,
University of British Columbia, Canada

Date October 23rd , 16:00 ~ 17:00

Location 과학관 262

Abstract

Optimal transport considers efficient matchings between distributions, and it has applications broadly in mathematical analysis, probability, economics, physics, and data science, among others. We will describe a few research directions where the ideas of optimal transport are applied, including those in stochastic optimization problems, free boundary partial differential equations, as well as biological data analysis.