Invitation

The Center for Transnational Migration and Social Inclusion (CTMS), Seoul National University Graduate School of International Studies - Korea International Cooperation Agency (SNU GSIS-KOICA) Development Cooperation Policy Program (DCPP), and the Korean Association of Women's Studies (KAWS) are pleased to announce the 2022 International Care Conference on Aging Societies and Care Economy: Gender, Transnational Migration, and Development. We bring together world-renowned experts to address the demographic security crisis that looms over countries in Asia and beyond. Please join us as we deep dive into the 'care crisis' exacerbated by declining fertility rates and increasing population aging, and to discuss the future of care economy through the lenses of gender, transnational migration and development.
